Committee Requesting Impact: Senate Finance

Bill Summary

A bill to amend the Code of Laws of South Carolina, 1976, by adding Section 12-6-3540 so as to enact the "South Carolina Low Income Housing Tax Credit Act" which provides an income or insurance premium tax credit for expenditures to develop rental housing units for low income tenants, to provide for the manner in which and conditions under which this income tax credit is authorized, and to permit the Housing Finance and Development Authority and the Department of Revenue to promulgate regulations to administer this program and the tax credits under the program.

REVENUE IMPACT ^{1/}

This bill is expected to reduce General Fund income tax or insurance premium tax revenue by an estimated $8,545,000 in FY2007-08 and $8,885,000 in FY2008-09.

Explanation

This bill would create the "South Carolina Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Act", which would provide for matching the current federal low-income housing tax credit with a state low-income housing tax credit dollar for dollar. The Low-Income Tax Credit Program was established in 1986 to encourage private developers and non-profit entities to construct new low-income housing or rehabilitate affordable rental units. Internal Revenue Code Section 42 authorizes a nonrefundable federal income tax credit to a taxpayer of either 4 percent or 9 percent of the total investment, depending upon the type of project being developed and the source of financing. To qualify for the tax credit, owners of the property must meet general guidelines and strict program requirements with respect to the number of units rented to low-income occupants, the setting of maximum rental rates, area median income limits, and the length of time the property remains in use to rent to qualified tenants. Taxpayers receive the tax credits for a period of ten years, and the taxpayer may carry back three years and carry forward fifteen years any unused tax credits.

Generally, each state is allocated low-income tax credits through the Internal Revenue Service at a rate of $1.25 for each person in its population. According to the S.C. State Housing Authority this amounted to $7,766,426 in federal tax credits in calendar year 2005. Investors claimed most of the tax credits in 2005. The U.S. Congress passed legislation in December 2000 that raises the per capita caps from $1.25 in 2000, to $1.50 in 2001, and to $1.75 in 2002. The credit cap is adjusted for inflation each year thereafter. In 2006, the per capita cap was set at a rate of $1.90 for each person. Adjusting for inflation, the per capita caps are estimated to be $1.95 in 2007 and $2.00 in 2008. Matching the current federal low-income housing tax credit with a state low-income housing tax credit dollar-for-dollar is estimated to reduce General Fund income tax revenue by an estimated $8,545,000 in FY2007-08 and $8,885,000 in FY2008-09. This bill is effective for taxable years beginning after 2006.
